Informal Dance.

An informal enclure party and dance was given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Martin at their residence on Bay street.

A few friends were invited in and a quartet was engaged to furnish music. Refreshments were served and these present spent an enjoyable evening.

Winter visitors to Daytona, who wish a newspaper in their northern homes that will give all the news about Daytona and her people all the time, should subscribe for The GAZETTE-NEWS. It is only $1.50 per year. Call at office on north Beach street, or drop us a postal.

Order is Power.

What comfort, what strength, what economy, there is in order: material order, intellectual order, moral order. To know where one is going and what one wishes: this is order. To keep one's word and one's engagements. Again: order. To have everything ready under one's hands, to be able to dispose of all one's forces and to have all one's means of whatever kind under command. Still order. To discipline one's habits, one's efforts, one's wishes, to organize one's life, to distribute one's time, to take the measure of one's duties and make one's rights respected, to employ one's capital and resources, one's talent and one's chances profitably. Order is power.—Amiel's Journal

Sunflower Seed Eaters.

A traveler says that one of the first things which struck him on his arrival in Russia was the enormous quantity of sunflower seed consumed in that country. The seeds, which are delicious and have an agreeable taste, are constantly chewed by the people. The outer husk is detached with the teeth and spat out. These husks are seen scattered about on pavements and garden walks, in railway carriages, tramway cars and cabs, on the floors of restaurants and private rooms. On days of public festivity the ground everywhere is covered with them. At every street corner a brisk trade is done in the seeds by old women.

The Best Man at His Wedding.
Haskins—By the way, who was the best man at your wedding? Willowby—The parson seemed to be feeling the best. You see, it was all profit for him and no risk whatever.—Boston Transcript.

SHORT STORIES.

Within less than twenty years of scientific cane culture Hawaii has achieved second place among the countries of the world in sugar production. When a Japanese on the Pacific coast receives a calendar containing the one word "Hoshidukare," he picks up and starts for Japan at once to take his place in the ranks.

An effort will shortly be made for the marking of the grave of Virginia Dare, the first child of English parents born on American soil. She is buried on Roanoke Island, North Carolina.

Because the state of Vermont removed the bounty from wildcats and lynx, Jesse Bentley, a trapper living at Sunderland, in that state, deliberately released three lynx which fell into his traps.

Twenty four meals a day is the new record in the eating line. It has been established by a baby at the Bridgeport (Conn.) hospital. The baby is less than seven inches in length and weighs two pounds.

More than 22,824,230 acres of the public lands were turned over to private individuals during the past year. This means that an area almost equal to Indiana has been added to the productive region of the United States.

EDITORIAL FLINGS.

Boston papers now give Lawson as much space as they used to give Lowell or Longfellow.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

We observe with pleasure that next April's Vermont maple sugar product is already on the market.—New York Evening Mail.

John D. Rockefeller is buying up Sleepy Hollow. There will be nothing sleepy about the hollow after Rockefeller gets through with it. Atlanta Journal.

A German jurist has decided that poker is not a game of chance. He's probably been "sitting in" with a delegation from the United States senate.—Philadelphia North American.

Who said the American naval demonstration against Turkey was useless? Abdul Hamid has purchased $10,000,000 worth of artillery and will send delegates to the first peace conference called.—Detroit Free Press.

PITH AND POINT.

Learn to enjoy sacrificing your pleasure for others and get in training for old age.

When you stop and think about it, worry about the future is just as useless as worry over the past.

Ever notice that a rich man will think he cannot afford luxuries which a poor man will buy? That's why he is rich.

If a man is at all sociable, his wife and daughters have a hard time with him. He insists upon coming into the room when his daughter has a beau.—Atchison Globe.
